Myths & Realities

Myth	Reality
AP courses are for students who always get good grades.	AP courses are for any students who are academically prepared and motivated to take college-level courses.
AP courses are too stressful.	It's no secret that AP courses are challenging. But the support you receive from your classmates and teachers can help you manage the work load.
I don't think I will score high enough on the AP Exam to get college credit.	You don't need to score a 5. Many colleges grant credit — and placement as well — based on a 3 or higher on an AP Exam.
Taking AP courses could hurt my GPA.	GPA calculates grades in AP courses as 1.3. Taking AP courses shows colleges that you're willing to challenge yourself academically.
I can't take AP because no one has recommended me.	If you think you're ready to take an AP course, then you're ready to advocate for yourself — just talk to a teacher or counselor.

Start the Conversation

Help your child prepare to talk to a teacher or counselor about AP.

Here are some questions to encourage your child to think about:

What AP course is right for me?

- ✓ Before you talk to a teacher or counselor, think about what interests you:
- ✓ Which courses do you enjoy most in school? In which subjects do you excel?
- ✓ What college majors are you considering? What careers excite you?

Ask your counselor or teacher the following questions:

- ✓ In which AP courses at our school am I likely to do well?
- ✓ Are there other courses that can help me succeed in AP or prepare me for college and careers?

What steps do I need to take?

- ✓ What is our school's enrollment deadline?
- ✓ Are there study groups or people who can offer help if I need it?
- ✓ What can I do next to help me prepare for AP?
